FEES QUESTIONNAIRE

IESBA Seeks Your View about the Level of Fees Charged by Audit Firms

The level of fees charged by audit firms is considered by some stakeholders as an element that may affect auditor independence and a professional accountant's ability to comply with the fundamental principles in the IESBA Code of Ethics for Professional Accountants (the IESBA Code), particularly professional competence and due care. Auditor independence and compliance with the fundamental principles of ethics instill confidence in, and increase the credibility of, financial information, thereby contributing to audit quality.

The IESBA has extended their deadline to March 1, 2018 to give stakeholders an extra month to respond to their Fees Questionnaire.

The IESBA is keen on further understanding whether and, if so, how the level of fees charged by audit firms affect the fundamental compliance with principles and auditor independence. The IESBA seeks to understand these matters in order to determine whether and how the IESBA Code should be further enhanced to address issues relating to the level of fees charged by audit firms. In this regard, the IESBA established a Fees Working Group in 2016 to undertake this work and make recommendations by 2018. The Working Group commenced its work with commissioning a summary of research on the topic of fees.

The IESBA narrowed its focus on the following in relation to the level of fees charged by audit firms:

- Downward pressure on audit fees;
- High dependence of audit fees from a client, at the firm and engagement level;
- High ratio of non-audit fees to audit fees from an audit client; and
- Non-audit fees as high percentage of the firm's revenue in relation to audit fees.

The January 2016 IESBA Staff publication, Ethical Considerations Relating to Audit Fee Setting in the Context of Downward Fee Pressure responds to certain stakeholders' concerns about downward pressure on fees being a factor, potentially adversely impacting audit quality.

This Fees Questionnaire is the final phase of the Working Group's fact-finding. The Working Group invites you to share your views and perspectives on the topic by responding to the questions in Section A, Respondent Classification, and one set of the questions in Section B, Survey Questions, pertaining to your classification. Your responses will help shape IESBA's understanding of fee-related issues and may also inform an appropriate response. The Appendix to this Questionnaire includes contextual information about the IESBA's Fees Initiative and a list of defined terms that might be useful in responding to the questions in Section B.

Respondents are asked to submit their completed questionnaires in PDF electronically through the IESBA website, using the "Submit a Comment" link. Completed questionnaires are requested by March 1, 2018. Also, please note that first-time users must register to use this feature. All completed questionnaires will be considered a matter of public record and will ultimately be posted on the website. Although the IESBA prefers that the questionnaires are submitted via its website, they can also be sent to Ken Siong, IESBA Technical Director at KenSiong@ethicsboard.org.

Highlights of Provisions Relating to Fees in the IESBA Code

The IESBA Code requires firms to evaluate the significance of threats to compliance with the fundamental principles and independence and either eliminate them or reduce them to an acceptable level. In relation to fees, the IESBA Code notes that there may be threats to compliance with the fundamental principles arising from the level of fees quoted. For instance, a self-interest threat to professional competence and due care is created when the fees quoted is so low that it may be difficult to perform the engagement with the necessary standards for that price. Also, a self-interest or intimidation threat may be created when:

- The total fees from an audit or assurance client represent a large proportion of the firm's total fees as a result of dependence on that client and a concern about losing the client.
- The fees generated from an audit or assurance client represent a large proportion of the revenue of an individual partner or an individual office of the firm.

The IESBA Code includes examples of safeguards that firms are required to apply to deal with such threats created by the level of fees charged. In addition, for audit clients that are public interest entities, the IESBA Code requires firms to disclose to those charged with governance of the audit client any fees received that represent more than 15% of the firm'stotal fees for two consecutive years, and the safeguards applied by the firm.

Additional Information

A. Contextual Information about the IESBA's Fees Initiative

The IESBA established a Fees Working Group in March 2016 to conduct fact-finding about whether there is a relationship between fees and threats to compliance with the fundamental principles or to independence, or whether there are reasonable perceptions that such threats exist, as well as how such threats might be addressed. This work is responsive to concerns raised by stakeholders, in particular regulators and audit oversight authorities. The Working Group's fact finding is focused on obtaining an understanding of the following four areas:

- Level of audit fees for individual audit engagements.
- Relative size of fees to the partner, office or the firm, and the extent to which partners' remuneration is dependent upon fees from a particular client.
- The ratio of non-audit services fees to audit fees paid by an audit client.
- The provision of audit services by a firm that also has a significant non-audit services business.

As part of this initiative, the IESBA commissioned Prof. David Hay, Professor of Auditing, University of Auckland, New Zealand to undertake a review of the relevant academic and other literature on the topic of audit fees for the period between 2006 and 2016. Prof. Hay observed that the findings with respect to the Working Group's four areas of focus were generally mixed. However, Prof. Hay observed that there has been consistent research findings that suggest a link between threats to independence in appearance and higher non-audit fees charged by audit firms to their audit clients.

The Working Group is expected to complete its fact finding and develop its final recommendations to the IESBA in 2018.

B. Defined Terms

1. Independence

The IESBA Code explains that independence comprises the following two separate elements:

- (a) Independence of Mind The state of mind that permits the expression of a conclusion without being affected by influences that compromise professional judgment, thereby allowing an individual to act with integrity and exercise objectivity and professional skepticism.
- (b) Independence in Appearance The avoidance of facts and circumstances that are so significant that a reasonable and informed third party would be likely to conclude, weighing all the specific facts and circumstances, that a firm's, or a member of the audit team's, integrity, objectivity or professional skepticism has been compromised.

An accounting firm or individual PAPP must ensure both elements of independence are not compromised.

2. The Fundamental Principles

Professional accountants must comply with the five fundamental principles of professional ethics which are described in the IESBA Code as follows:

- (a) Integrity to be straightforward and honest in all professional and business relationships.
- (b) Objectivity to not allow bias, conflict of interest or undue influence of others to override professional or business judgments.
- (c) Professional Competence and Due Care to maintain professional knowledge and skill at the level required to ensure that a client or employer receives competent professional service based on current developments in practice, legislation and techniques and act diligently and in accordance with applicable technical and professional standards.
- (d) Confidentiality to respect the confidentiality of information acquired as a result of professional and business relationships and, therefore, not disclose any such information to third parties without proper and specific authority, unless there is a legal or professional right or duty to disclose, nor use the information for the personal advantage of the professional accountant or third parties.
- (e) Professional Behavior to comply with relevant laws and regulations and avoid any action that discredits the profession.

The fundamental principles establish the standard of behavior expected of professional accountants. The IESBA Code also describes a conceptual framework which establishes the approach which all accountants are required to apply to assist them in achieving compliance with those fundamental principles.

3. Threats

The IESBA Code explains that threats to compliance with the fundamental principles and independence fall into one or more of the following categories:

- (a) Self-interest threat the threat that a financial or other interest will inappropriately influence a professional accountant's judgment or behavior;
- (b) Self-review threat the threat that a professional accountant will not appropriately evaluate the results of a previous judgment made; or an activity performed by the accountant, or by another individual within the accountant's firm or employing organization, on which the accountant will rely when forming a judgment as part of performing a current activity;
- (c) Advocacy threat the threat that a professional accountant will promote a client's or employing organization's position to the point that the accountant's objectivity is compromised;
- (d) Familiarity threat the threat that due to a long or close relationship with a client, or employing organization, a professional accountant will be too sympathetic to their interests or too accepting of their work; and
- (e) Intimidation threat the threat that a professional accountant will be deterred from acting objectively because of actual or perceived pressures, including attempts to exercise undue influence over the accountant.
